GRANITE CITY — Traffic control signals will be installed at Illinois 3 and Rock Road. The Granite City Council July 22 unanimously approved an agreement with the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) to install the signals.

THE ALDERMEN, a week earlier, also approved spending $32,800 to upgrade signals at Illinois 3 and 20th Street.

Installing the Rock Road signals will cost $92,345. Granite City and the Tri-City Regional Port District will each pay $25,000. IDOT will pay the rest.

The idea for placing signals at the intersection resulted from discussions between the port district and Mayor Von Dee Cruise, said Bob Wydra, general manager of the port district.

"It's a mutual need," he said. "We're very pleased to see it happen."

The port district's board of commissioners approved an agreement to share expense of the project at its July meeting, Wydra said.

A major need for the signals is improved traffic safety, Wydra said. Several serious accidents have occurred at the intersection over the past 10 years, he said.

"WHERE WE sit, we do see accidents," he said.

Construction of the signals is expected to begin this fall, Wydra said. "The sooner, the better," he said. "You improve traffic safety, it's good for all of us."

"THERE'S NO doubt it's going to improve it," said Police Chief Bill Harris. "It should help the situation out there."

One fatal accident occurred last year at the intersection, Harris said. Thomas J. Slajdl, 83, of East Alton was northbound on Illinois 3 when his auto left the roadway and went across Rock Road at 5:29 a.m. May 30, 1985.

Slajdl's car hit a stop sign and an Illinois Power & Light Co. pole. The motorist died later the same day at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Four new principals get pay increases

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Before their first day of work, four elementary principals were given raises Tuesday by the District 9 Board of Education.

Mike Loftus, Ellen Voyles, Joan Harris and Helen Schmeisser were hired April 5. Their first day of work will be Aug. 24.

NONE have previous administrative experience. No administrative salary schedule has been formally approved by the Board of Education for the 1986-87 school year. However, the four said they were promised more than the board offered to pay them.

Though salary discussions are held in executive sessions, Loftus learned he was to be paid $29,440, with pension benefits that would bring his earnings to near $32,000 as the new principal of Frasier Elementary.

LOFTUS and School Board member Alan Crider carpooled to the Clayton district together last year.

"I was crushed," Loftus said.

Loftus said that he was promised between $32,000 and $34,000 for the job. As a teacher in the Clayton school system last year, Loftus was on the $27,728 pay scale with an estimated $1,600 in fringe benefits.

TUESDAY night, the board agreed to pay the four a base of $32,000 with pension and fringe benefits equaling nearly $34,000. The stipend is nearly equal to that of principal Art Menendez who has 25 years experience with the district. Menendez began last year, earning $34,037.

Including pension, the four will earn more than principals Harry Griggs, Agnes Frynzko, Don Kipp, Nancy Marti, Jim Jeffries, and Ted Vrencek were paid prior to administrative pay raises last December.

THE FOUR will start at salaries higher than district-wide administrators like Karen Szedlar, insurance supervisor; Marcela Filcher, accounting supervisor; Boyd McCommis, custodial supervisor; Jean Hall, language arts supervisor; Stu Mills, special education supervisor.

Compensation for the four will be more than former Director of Food Services Michael Kunak who turned a department with a half-million dollar deficit into a $22,000 surplus in two years.

The money will come from the same fund that teacher raises were to come. Negotiations between the board and Local 745 are ongoing.

After a 37 minute executive session, the board agreed to pay Marti with two years of experience, and Briggs with eight years of experience, at the same rate as the four new principals.

The four new principals said former District 9 Superintendent Max Redmond promised them their salaries would be in the $32,000 to $34,000 range.

Redmond said that was not the case.

The board decided to grant the raises based on what they were told by the four rather than what they were told by Redmond.

After the raise was approved, Loftus asked to have his salary in writing.

Budget OK'd

By Donna Kimbro

MADISON — The increased city budget approved by the City Council did not mean a tax increase, but it did mean controversy Tuesday.

The fiscal 1987 budget is $235,680 greater than last year's budget.

Alderman Don Garrett questioned why, in some departments, salaries were more than figures shown in the budget document.

He said salaries in the playground and recreation department were put at $33,000, but the budgeted amount totaled $28,116.

The mayor said a person was cut from the department, but the salary amount was left in the appropriations in case someone later needed to be hired.

The same answer was given to Alderman Robert Grieve when he asked about the police department budget where salaries were set at $328,333, but included $25,023 for an assistant chief.

"We do not have an assistant chief so why is that figure in the budget?" Grieve said.

Mayor John Bellicoff said the (See BUDGET, Page 5A)

An adventure in Lavender Glen Real life reflected in comic strip

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — In Lavender Glen, a series of cartoons by Jacquelyn Greenleeves, Thedda Gobbler, Jay E. Bloobird, Acorn, and other assorted characters.

But Lavender Glen isn't located on a map. It can only be found in "Lavender Glen Folk," a cartoon created by Ed Buckman of Granite City.

Sunday focus

BUCKMAN'S interest in cartoons started when he was a boy. He delighted in Popeye, Moon Mullens, and the Katzenjammer Kids, he said.

His love for cartoons continued throughout his life, though he didn't pursue a career in cartooning, he said.

Now retired, Buckman at one time worked at the Kopper's plant, now Granite City Steel's coke plant. He also was a freelance writer, and still enjoys reading and writing, he said.

SOON AFTER creating the Lavender Glen characters, he met Nancy Volk of Hooker, Okla., through Cartoon World, a cartoonist magazine.

Though they've never met in person, Buckman and Volk work as a team; Volk drawing the cartoon and Buckman writing the story line.

The animal characters came natural to Volk, who lives on a farm, she said.

SHE WORKED on the original sketches and sent them to Buckman for approval, she said.

"LAVENDER GLEN FOLK" by Ed Buckman and Nancy Volk.

Approval was immediately given once Buckman saw Volk's work. "That gal shocked me," Buckman said. "I was stunned."

THOUGH hundreds of miles separate them, Volk, who has a bachelor's degree in graphic art, said teaming up with Buckman has worked out well.

"He is strong in the areas I lack, like writing," she said. "The effort has turned out to be something we liked."

The two have teamed-up to produce several editorial cartoons which have been published in the Press-Record-Journal.

AND VOLK illustrated a recently published cook book, by Maxine Wilhelm called "A Smidgen of Honey."

Now that the cartoon strip is on paper, Buckman is looking to get it published daily. He has sent copies to several newspapers with negative results.

But Buckman isn't giving up. BESIDES VOLK, Buckman is working with cartoonists Gloria Spence of Granite City, Bob Cerny of Chicago and Bill Weber of California. Weber spent six years working for Hanna-Barbera Productions who produced such animated television shows as "The Flintstones" and "The Jetsons."

He calls his group of artists Tapestry Artists Group, or TAG. The group, he said, was well selected.

"I look at any stuff by people who have promise," Buckman said. "There's a lot of talent in this town people don't know about."

$250,000 for bridge

By Bill Bagby

EDWARDSVILLE — The McKinley Bridge could benefit from a $250,000 pledge by the Madison County Transit District toward the effort to buy the Martin Luther King Bridge.

The district's board of trustees July 31 unanimously approved a resolution providing for the funds, said Madison County Board Chairman Nellie Hagauer.

UNDER TERMS of the resolution, five conditions of the transit district's involvement must be met. They are:

• East St. Louis must relinquish title of the bridge and commit themselves to renovating and maintaining the bridge toll-free as part of the interstate highway system.

• Payment will not be made until an offer is accepted by the bridge's bondholders.

• Those involved in the buyout pledge cooperation and support for the repair of the McKinley Bridge, owned by the city of Venice.

Construction of the new Clark Bridge in Alton is undertaken promptly through the combined efforts of the Illinois and Missouri highway departments.

HAGNAUER added he was pleased by the decision.

"I believe it can be a benefit to the county and to the area," he said.

The transit district is the first public body to officially guarantee support of the bridge renovation, said Managing Director Jerry Kane. (See BRIDGE, Page 5A)

Comment Our war or starve

WASHINGTON — At the very time that American agricultural exports have fallen below imports for the first time in 15 years, official State Department bureaucrats are making it tougher for Third World countries to get surplus U.S. commodities.

The reasons vary from country to country, but one explanation is purely outrageous: The department is insisting that recipient nations "privatize" their systems for distributing the subsidized food shipments.

This ideological arm-twisting has U.S. agribusinesses and one member of the Senate hopping mad.

"I do not believe in using food as a political weapon," Sen. John Melcher, D-Mont., told our associate Stewart Harris.

Last September, when he was unable to interest his Agriculture Committee colleagues in the issue, Melcher hired a stenographer and held a one-man hearing. Representatives of eight food-importing countries showed up to complain about the State Department's red tape, particularly the special variety used by the Agency for International Development, which runs the Food for Peace program. Here's what some of them had to say.

While riots and revolution were raging through Africa on the heels of famine, AID stalled food shipments to Kenya for three months until it agreed to begin turning its food distribution system over to the private sector. The Kenyan government had resisted. Its representative told Melcher, because there was no one outside the government with the managerial experience to handle the millions of tons of food involved. Furthermore, he pointed out, there was no guarantee that, once in private hands, the food would ever get to needy Kenyans.

Mozambique's representative testified that his Marxist country also lacks private business and necessary degree of expertise. Yet AID officials initially insisted that food would be forthcoming only if it were distributed by the private sector. AID eventually backed down, but its original attitude disconcerted Mozambican officials, who had seen 100,000 of their people die of starvation in 1984. "When you drive down the road and you see dead bodies, you cannot permit that kind of demand even for the best of philosophical reasons," explained one food importer.

In the Philippines, American diplomats informed the government that it must allow private business to compete with the government food-importing agency.

The Dominican Republic was told it had to abolish its government food-purchasing agency before it could get rice under the Food for Peace program. AID's representative, a businessman at Melcher's hearing, said this was after 80 Dominicans had died in food riots in 1984.

"To me, it typifies basically an attitude of arrogance on the part of our bureaucrats, who sit here in Washington and feel they know better than these governments what needs to be done," said Steve Gabbert, executive vice president of the Rice Millers Association. Footnote: AID officials insisted that no one has starved because of delays caused by the privatization issue. An emergency provision of the Food for Peace program allows immediate food deliveries in desperate situations.

WATCH ON THE PENTAGON: The Navy spends $10 million annually on its submarine warfare system, but has no way of knowing if it would work in actual combat. General Accounting Office investigators reported that the underwater tests run by the Navy in Hawaii and the Bahamas have used fixed test ranges which are about as realistic as a carnival shooting gallery. The auditors suggested that the sailors used a simulated "threat environment" akin to combat, but mobile underwater targets have not been a priority in the Navy's budget.

No one joins the armed services expecting to get rich, but a recent congressional report shows just how wretched military pay is compared to civilian jobs. Counting all the military benefits like housing, meals and health care, a civilian air traffic controller still makes about $11,000 a year less than a military technician doing the same work. A civilian aircraft mechanic makes about $14,000 more, civilian heavy equipment operators make $15,000 more and civilian electrical mechanics make $12,000 more.

EXECUTIVE MEMO: A recent Energy Department survey of the 15,542 individuals who have been given clearance for sensitive information found that more than a third of these federal employees and contractor personnel no longer have any affiliation with the department. But apparently, they still have access to sensitive areas, even though some of the security clearances were completed 20 or 30 years ago.

When the State Department receives a request under the Freedom of Information Act, it must first release the relevant documents, according to a recent study by the department's inspector general. But it's not a deliberate cover-up — just incompetence. The delays were blamed on a lack of coordination and too much time wasted finding the documents and unduly voluminous requests by the individuals. The inspector general's proposed solution: Limit the number of pages and the number of requests per person and charge higher fees that hardly sounds like freedom of information.

Industry needs community support

"It's always darkest before the dawn." This commonly cited phrase probably best typifies the current situation for the American steel industry.

With the recent filing for protection under Chapter 11 by LTV Corporation, the second largest steel company in the United States; the previous filing by Wheeling-Pittsburgh, comprising seven, with reports that a number of other steel companies are considering bankruptcy filings; and the pending strike at U.S. Steel, the American steel industry there may be only darkness and no dawn.

We at National Steel do not feel this way. While the current situation is indeed bleak, we see it as far from hopeless.

We have no intention or desire to seek protection under any Chapter 11 filing. National stands ready to compete with steel producers on any fair battleground.

Unfortunately, the LTVs and Rebuilding Camp DuBois at the Lewis and Clark Park (near Mitchell, on Illinois 3) presents problems because the site is not available as it was in 1803 when the original camp was built (as the starting point for the Lewis and Clark expedition to the Northwest).

There is also the question whether the type of construction was of the style of the forts at Mandan and Clatsop or whether it was of the cabin type as one can see at Valley Forge. What will be built on what site?

The fact that the land next to the Mississippi-Missouri rivers confluence floods seems to matter not to any of the members of a group seeking construction of the camp at the park. The fact is the campsite could be reconstructed in a flood-free area. Many publications list Wood River as the starting point.

The fact that Clark's older brother walked across the flooded rivers of Illinois back in 1779 does not change the fact William might not have camped on the river itself but a half-mile mile up the Riviere DuBois.

It seems that every time someone tries to do something to restore the memory of this event a group comes vocally forward to demand that the site on the floodplain be given to the

Reporter leaves his heart in GC

There were dozens of kids playing at the Tri-City Park playground the other day. I drove out of town on my way home.

Just a few months ago there was no playground equipment at all. It was just an empty lot. All that began to change when park Commissioner Dora Darnell brought it to the attention of the Park Board.

She said the playground equipment had been removed when vandals began to tear it apart to maintain the park. She said it might be time to try a playground there again.

On April 23, precinct committeeman Bill Moreland approached the board with petitions asking that the park be re-equipped. Park commissioners were a couple weeks ahead of the game, thanks to Darnell.

That's how government works when it's done right.

Just three months later, the park has made slides, swings, sandboxes and more available for area kids. Parking areas, a half-court basketball area and softball field are planned next year.

Columnists' Club

By Bill Milligan

The idea for the park was Darnell's. Maybe they ought to think about renaming the place after her. The decision to proceed with the park was made unanimously by park commissioners.

The execution and design was in the hands of Park District Director Steve Kessel. The labor was done by Park District employees who know their trade.

During one meeting, President George Sykes asked how the park was progressing.

"It's been reported that we intend to do something out there," Sykes said. "We need to follow through."

They have.

Sykes' comment made me feel like I may have had a hand in developing the park. I thank him for this compliment.

When I worked in Fairview Heights, I was convinced I would never run across a government official who was open and genuinely concerned about the people it served. That City Council.

I was convinced I would never run across finer elected officials than men like Charlie Baricovic and Mayor George Lanxon, and women like Lydia Cruz.

Granite City's Park Board takes a back seat to no one when it comes to concern for the people.

During my association with the park district, I never once heard anyone express a negative feeling or try to circumvent the public's right to know how their elected officials make decisions.

I never once observed anyone say or do anything illegal. Indeed, they consistently made decisions that were beyond reproach.

It was an honor to work with them.

I will miss Randall Robertson, Barry Loman, Steve Kessel, Frank Rea, Nancy Miles-Sanders, Gary Grandicelli, John and Olga Mink, Dave Price, Sykes, Darnell, Sue Champion and Betty Grote. The people of Granite City have something they can be proud of in their parks. I hope they cherish them as much as I will the memory of my work with them.

I want to say goodbye to the fine people I have met in my seven months here. Goodbye to the folks on the Library Board, at MESD, Belleville Area College, the Tri-City Regional Park District, and the Park Board.

I know I am leaving my work at the School District undone, but another reporter will follow me there.

Since coming to Granite City, I have heard a lot of talk about reshaping the downtown, reviving Granite City Steel, a new industrial park at the old Army Depot.

All this would help the future of this city, but the real future is in its schools.

I hope the community can regain control of them.

I am leaving Granite City to become editor of the Cahokia Journal. But I will never forget the fine people I have met here.

David, an SIUE graduate and former freelance writer, has worked full-time for East Side Publications for the past year. He has covered the controversial American Bottoms Treatment Plant issue and built trust and a good rapport with area readers. He brings these abilities to Granite City.

I'm not going to miss Bill. He's to come to this office too often to cause any real sense of loss. But for those of you who won't see Bill in the community as much as you'd like, call him. He'd like to hear from you. I'm sure. The number is 332-6000.

Reporter did an excellent job in GC, too

Bill Milligan did an excellent job of covering Granite City for the Press-Record/Journal.

His coverage, under adverse conditions, of the Granite City School Board was especially exceptional. His work will be mentioned in the college journalism class I will teach this fall when I provide examples of the type of reporting young persons should aspire to achieve.

Bill came to Granite City after doing award-winning work as editor of one of our other newspapers, the East St. Louis News-Journal. While there, he displayed his ability as a reporter by breaking the first in-depth articles in the Metro East on the current gang problems in that city.

His articles received a community service award from the Southern Illinois Editorial Association and from the Press Association of Greater St. Louis.

Media Mandarin

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive Editor

He hit the streets of that city, interviewing the youngsters who are gang members and those persons who have tried to work with them, and against them, to stem the growth of gangs and subsequent illegal activities.

Following his series of four, full-page features, other media members began their own articles. We think, with good reason, that Milligan's articles are the ones that started the ball rolling on the way to the crackdown that's now occurring. His reporting, for tenacity, in cases in Granite City. He did not go looking for problems in District 9, but once those problems became evident, he worked diligently to get at their source. The ramifications of his reporting in the district will be felt for years to come. The end result, I believe, can only be an improvement.

The idea of Bill taking on the responsibility of being the Cahokia-Dupu area editor occurred some time back, but the timing wasn't right. Looming ahead was concern about what was going to happen to Superintendent Max Redmond. We couldn't cut his reporting on that important issue in mid-stream, so we waited and waited.

Though we would have preferred a different outcome for Redmond, his resignation set the ball rolling for Bill to take over the Cahokia/Dupu

Journal and he will do so tomorrow. Losing Bill won't mean losing coverage for the various boards he now covers. He will be working closely with our former Cahokia Dupu area reporter, David Gosnell, who is joining us in Granite City. David will cover the boards Bill covered.

East-West Gateway endorses $1 1/2 billion highway upgrade

A highway improvement package worth nearly $1 1/2 billion was approved by the Board of Directors of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council at a meeting July 30.

The highway portion of the Transportation Improvement Program (TIP) for fiscal 1987 includes about 475 projects in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Interstate projects and bridge improvements in Missouri and Illinois account for the bulk of the program, with more than 40 percent of the funding going to the Federal-Aid Interstate System and about 19 percent toward improving bridges.

Also at the meeting, East-West Gateway's Board approved a draft environmental assessment submitted by the Missouri Highway and Transportation Department regarding the reconstruction of the I-270, U.S. Route 40/61 interchange.

This assessment states that the improvement to the St. Louis County interchange is needed to increase its capacity, reduce traffic congestion and enhance the safety of motorists. Minor negative environmental impacts of the project will be addressed.

In other business, the board endorsed proposed development projects for the city of St. Louis, St. Charles city and county as well as Belleville.

Also endorsed was a local housing program proposed by the Regional Forum, the citizen's arm of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

Principal hired at Middle School

MADISON — A new principal for the Middle School was hired by the School Board last week.

Kenneth E. Perkins, formerly the assistant principal at Waterloo High School, was hired.

During the personnel meeting the board hired Sheri Marshall as a high school English teacher. She was with SIUE in its gifted program, was doctoral assistant and taught at SIUE.

Richard Essington, formerly a coach at Venice High School, was hired as the high school basketball coach.

In other action:

- Board members approved the purchase of tables with attached benches for Harris School cafeteria at a cost of $5,070. The benches will be installed in time for opening day of school.

- Dan Kostencki, superintendent of schools, gave a tentative report on cost of repairing or purchasing a new intercom system at the high school. He will tabulate all bids and information and present a final analysis of the project at the next board meeting.

- Board members agreed to hire Hollywood-Andrews Studio to take pictures for the 1986-87 year.

- Kostencki and John Pritchett, retiring superintendent of schools, were given permission to attend the ninth annual superintendents conference scheduled for Sept. 17-18 at the Prairie Capital Convention Center in Springfield.

- Approval was given to the Boy Scouts to hold its annual School Night for Scouting at Blair, Louis Baer and Harris schools, on Sept. 18 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The program is designated as a recruitment project to explain scouting and register boys interested in the becoming a Boy Scout.

The request of Sheri Guardiola, a cutscout den leader for Webelos of Pack 21, to use Louis Baer School one day a week for meetings was also approved.

Senior Centers at Ill. State Fair

The Illinois State Fair will be held from Aug. 7 through Aug. 17, at the state fairgrounds in Springfield.

This year's fair promises to be the largest agricultural exposition in the country. In 1985, 1 million people passed through the gates to participate in the myriad of activities.

Again, Gov. James Thompson has appointed Lt. Gov. George Ryan's Senior Action Centers staff to oversee the Senior State Fair Centers.

The Senior Centers will be located in two air-conditioned buildings with entertainment and an exhibit mecca for older citizens. Lynda Ganser and Carrie Redebaugh-Levi, directors of Lt. Gov. Ryan's Senior Action Centers, will be the project coordinators.

Exhibitors throughout the 11 days will include Blue Cross/Blue Shield, American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), Community Care Systems, Inc., the Governor's Office of Senior Involvement, Lt. Gov. Ryan's Senior Legislative Forum and the Attorney General's Office of Senior Involvement, plus many more.

Special daily events on the Senior Center stage will include amateur entertainment provided by seniors throughout the day. Dance bands will perform from 6 to 8 every evening.

An awards ceremony will be held at 1 p.m. daily to recognize the oldest fair visitors, the person with the most grandchildren and other special distinctions.

Thompson, Ryan, Secretary of State James Edgar and Attorney General Neil Hartigan and other dignitaries will present the awards each day.

The revised update on the Senior Guide also will be available at the fair.

Senior citizens who want to join the fun at the Illinois State Fair can contact local senior clubs, senior centers or call Ryan's Senior Action Centers toll-free number at 1-800-252-6565.

Madison students need examinations

All students enrolling in kindergarten, fifth grade, and those new to the Madison School District must turn in completed physical examinations the first day of school, said D. J. Kostiencki, school superintendent.

Civil Defense
plan OK'd

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

MADISON — A Civil Defense preparedness plan and other requests were approved by the City Council Tuesday.

The Civil Defense plan was revised and contains important telephone numbers, contingency plans in the event of a disaster, and places where emergency heavy equipment will be available, Danny Sipes said.

"This plan is supposed to be revised every two years and sent to the county and state and we (the city) have not complied with this requirement for eight years," Sipes said.

In other action, Alderman Robert Grieve requested work be completed at the railroad crossing at 14th Street and Madison Avenue and 14th Street and Grand Avenue. He said there are sunken places at the crossings and a vehicle could easily be caught in the hole and the driver lose control of his car.

Mayor Belcoff said railroad officials have inspected the Madison Avenue project and in the process of having the sinking hole repaired. He then asked Robbie Robbins, street superintendent, to keep in touch with the railroad people to make sure the two places are repaired as soon as possible.

An invitation was read from Annets Post 291 announcing its annual installation scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 10, at which time they will also hold a mortgage burning ceremony.

Another event will be the fund raising project today, July 31, at Engelbert Hall for Neil Harigan. Tickets costing $20 per person may be purchased at the door, Alderman Grieve said.

A complaint concerning a house at 1233 Iowa St. was presented to the council. The complaint stated the building and grounds are in need of a cleanup and is not in compliance with the city health code.

The mayor said the Health Department has been in touch with the owners and the place is not cleaned the city will file a lien against the property.

Sipes announced the Ethnic picnic is scheduled for Aug. 15-17 at the Madison Recreation Center and is open to the public. Friday night the festivities will begin at 5 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday events will start at noon.

Prayer vigil
every Saturday

The public is invited to weekly prayer vigils each Saturday at 21st and Iowa Streets.

The local group is at that location from 7:30 until 11 a.m. every Saturday, C.W. Earth said.

Two third parties on Illinois ballot

SPRINGFIELD — Two third parties, almost diametrically opposed philosophically, filed petitions July 23 to put their slates of candidates on the November Illinois ballot.

The Libertarian Party was the first to file and will be listed after the Republican and Democratic slates. They will be followed by the Social Workers Party.

Adlai Stevenson III's Illinois Solidarity Party planned to file Monday, the final day permitted under Illinois election law, a spokesperson said.

The Libertarians filed more than 32,000 signatures and the Social Workers filed 37,000 signatures. A minimum of 25,000 were required. The Solidarity Party has already gathered more than 60,000 signatures, said assistant press secretary Terry Stephan.

The Libertarian Party has run slates for statewide office in every general election in Illinois since 1974. The best any of the party's candidates has done so far is the 1.2 percent of the vote garnered by the U.S. Senate candidate in 1984.

"This is such a weird election year — the unthinkable might even happen and I might win," said Gary Shilts, the Libertarian candidate for governor, an Aurora attorney running for office for the first time.

Shilts, at a statehouse press conference, said the surprise victories of supporters of Lyndon LaRouche in the March Democratic primary, had made both a positive and negative impact on third party candidates.

Shilts denounced LaRouche but said the primary results had brought "more interest in third parties."

Among the specific positions advocated by Shilts and the Libertarian candidate slate are repealing the state income tax and sales tax. Shilts said there would still be enough revenues left for the legitimate functions of government which he said should be limited to funding the "police power" against perpetrators of violent crimes or fraud.

He advocates eliminating all state funding for education on all levels as well as abolishing any state regulation of education, leaving that up to the private sector and local communities.

Budget OK'd

The department decides to name an assistant chief.

"This does not mean we are going to hire an assistant chief but we should consider setting aside the money if needed," Bellico said.

Another objection came from Fred Bathon, city treasurer, who informed the council the appropriations were wrong since the city did not have the money nor was there any way they could expect to collect revenue to conform with the budgeted amounts.

A public hearing on budgeting Federal Revenue Sharing Funds in the amount of $24,230 was held prior to the council meeting.

Bathon also objected to using the funds for fire protection equipment estimated to cost $23,959, and $271 designated to playground and recreation department.

"This is an anticipated amount of money and we are not sure what the city will receive therefore it was not included in the appropriations," Bellico said.

Garrett asked what is being done to structure recreation programs when $46,620 is budgeted and there are no youth programs.

The mayor said people at the recreation centers are working on programs for youth and Alderman Jim Hillmer reported the city now has three boys' baseball teams entered in the Mitchell Athletic Association summer program.

Jim Broadway, recreation director, also has a morning program in progress from 9 a.m. to noon for the youngsters five days a week. The mayor said the recreation centers are open all day and are being used.

The mayor said he is waiting for the final audit from Peat Marwick. When he receives the document he will discuss it in open council session.

"I think when we get the final report everyone will find out the situation is not as bad as previously stated," he said.

Voting yes on the final adoption of the appropriations were aldermen Don Wilson, Jim Hillmer, Christ Costello, Paul Ashford and Don Garrett. Robert Grieve voted no and Charles Rockett arrived for the meeting after the vote was taken.

Bridge money pledged

FUNDING was requested by a bridge panel appointed by Illinois Gov. James Thompson and Missouri Gov. John Ashcroft.

The panel is trying to get St. Louis and Madison, St. Clair and St. Louis counties to donate money to pay off the bridge's $10.7 million debt.

East St. Louis, owner of the bridge, has agreed to transfer ownership to Illinois and Missouri. In order to do this, a buy-out of the bridge's bondholders will have to take place.

KANE SAID the $250,000 was the last amount of funds requested from any of the entities.

St. Clair County recently pledged $500,000 in county money toward the bridge, Kane said.

B-STATE also pledged a financial contribution that will be determined by the extent of other interested parties' participation.

THE BOARD approved the money due to the "deplorable conditions" of bridges in the area, Kane said.

A study by the West Gateway Coordinating Council of area bridges showed the King Bridge was "in worse condition than any of the bridges," Kane said.

"Therefore, it had to be the first to be dealt with," he said.

THE STUDY also show 168,000 Illinois residents were affected by the bridges, Kane said.

An article in the July 31 edition of the Press-Record/Journal incorrectly placed the date of recently appointed Superintendent Jim Dumont's retirement from District 9 on June 6. The actual date was Jan. 6. Also, Dumont was hired on a 7-0 vote rather than a 6-1 vote. Board member David Partney voted no to a motion to post a notice of Dumont's appointment on the door of the central office.

bridge problem, Kane said.

"If the bridges continue to deteriorate, we'll have no link to the west side," she said.

"If we did the right thing hoping the people would understand," said Bill Haine, a Madison County Board member and chairman of the district's board, "We on the transit board and Nellie responded to the regional need."

JOHN BLEDGES need to get in better shape," said Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruise, a member of the transit district board. "I think that quarter-of-a-million dollars is quite an investment by Madison County."

Cruise said he firmly supports the efforts for repairs of the McKinley Bridge.

"We're very much interested not only in Martin Luther King, but the McKinley," he said. "Vince does a good job, but they need some help too."

Democrats not required to support LaRouchites

SPRINGFIELD — A Cook County circuit judge Monday refused to order the Democratic State Central Committee to provide campaign support to Lyndon LaRouche disciples Mark Fairchild and Janice Hart.

Fairchild and Hart sought a court injunction against state chairman Vince Demuzio of Carlinville that would also have barred him and other party leaders from assisting the third party candidate of Adlai Stevenson III. Stevenson withdrew as Democratic nominee for governor rather than run with Fairchild, who was nominated in March for lieutenant governor, and Hart, nominated for secretary of state.

Fairchild and Hart were legally entitled only to be on the ballot, but not guaranteed party organization support.

Fairchild and Hart had cited a party rule stating that the central committee would support all Democratic statewide candidates in the general election.

Attorneys for Demuzio and the committee argued they could not be compelled to "support candidates in whom they do not believe and to engage actively in an effort to elect candidates whose positions are abhorrent to them."

They also argued courts had no authority to interfere with a political party's interpretation and application of its own rules in deciding whom to support for election to office.

Stated simply, the court may not force any Democrat to take any action in support of Fairchild or Hart if he does not so desire," the legal brief filed on behalf of Demuzio argued.

The LaRouche candidates had asked for a court order requiring Demuzio "and his agents" to give them schedules of candidate functions, volunteer and donor lists and voter mailing lists. It also argued they were entitled to the same benefits "monetary or otherwise" received by the other statewide Democratic candidates nominated in March.

It was the second time Fairchild and Hart have taken Demuzio and the Democratic State Central Committee to court.

Last month they sued for an injunction barring Demuzio from preventing Fairchild's attendance at the Democratic State Convention in Springfield. The judge in that case held the LaRouche candidates were entitled to the same rights as the general public.

The Democrats then permitted only credentialed persons to enter the convention hall, and Fairchild was barred from entering.

Meeting held to resolve complaints

CHOUTEAU — A special township meeting called to attempt to resolve the complaints filed against those residing at 1142 St. Thomas Road resulted in another waiting period.

Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Nelson Metz told the group of residents he had filed contempt charges against a resident of the property and a hearing is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Sept. 3 in Edwardsville.

"We had a good meeting with about 80 residents attending and although we now have to wait for the court hearing, we are not going to give up on this," said Gene Jones, one of the petitioners.

"This person is... moving tractor trailers in and out and using the property as a business. I don't understand how he can do this," Jones said.

Metz told the people their options will be if the property owner pleads guilty and pays a fine or if his attorney asks for another court appearance and postpones the hearing. Also, the complainants can file individual law suits for deterioration to their property.

The meeting was called after more than 80 residents signed petitions asking for a special session of the Chouteau Township Board, after they were unsuccessful in trying to contact the Madison County Building, Environmental and Zoning Department.

Residents in that area are complaining that a business is operating on residentially zoned land and that the owner has parked a large truck and put up a tent in the front yard of the house.

Since this was a special town meeting the electors present adopted a weed ordinance for the township.

Man, 57, found dead in truck

Tommye C. Sharp, 57, of East St. Louis, suffered an apparent heart attack while driving and was found in his parked truck alongside Illinois 203 at Eagle Park Road, just south of Madison, at 9:15 p.m. Friday, Aug. 1.

Mr. Sharp was taken to Officer Funeral Home in East St. Louis.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN by the Board of Park Commissioners of the Granite City Park District, Madison County, Illinois, that:

1. The Granite City Park District heretofore published notice in the Granite City Press-Record issue of July 31, 1986, and hereby gives further notice, that the aggregate amount of property taxes, exclusive of election costs, extended by the County Clerk of Madison County, Illinois, upon the levy by the Granite City Park District for its fiscal year 1985 - 1986 based on the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1985 was $491,498.66.

2. The said July 31, 1986 public notice also declared that the amount of property taxes, exclusive of election costs, estimated as necessary to be raised by taxation for the District's fiscal year 1986-87 and based on taxes levied against the assessed valuation of the District's fiscal year 1986-87 and based on taxes levied against the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1986 would be $537,940 and that said 1986-87 levy represented an increase of 9.45% over the taxes actually extended by the County Clerk of Madison County on the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1985 and was, therefore, equivalent to 109.5% of the said 1985 tax extension made by the said County Clerk.

3. The Granite City Park District herewith announces that the proposed levy for the year 1986-87 will be $549,940, instead of $537,940, which levy, as increased, represents an actual increase of 11.9% over the taxes actually extended by the County Clerk of Madison County on the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1985 and is, therefore, equivalent to 111.9% of the said 1985 tax extension made by the said County Clerk.

Windows shattered on Delmar Avenue

GRANITE CITY: Windows on three parked vehicles on Delmar Avenue were reported shattered July 30, police said.

Robert Conaway, of 2540 Delmar, reported the rear window of his auto was shattered.

Handy Lupardus, of 2520 Delmar, told police he found the rear window of his pickup truck shattered.

The rear window of a car belonging to Harold Smalley, of 11 Westgate Drive, Pontoon Beach, that was parked at 2557 Delmar, was shattered.

Witnesses told authorities they saw four youths riding on bicycles northbound on Delmar Avenue carrying a stick-on baseball bat. The youths hit the rear window on Smalley's car, causing it to break.

Outreach group needs large van

VENICE: A local prison outreach group that needs a van to continue its work, has established a mailing address so donations can be made toward purchasing the van.

"Mother" Ada Turner, the group's founder and president, said donations can be sent to the following address: Prison Ministry, c/o Ada Turner, Box 255, Madison, IL 62240.

Checks are to be made out to "Prison Ministry," Turner said.

The group is seeking a large passenger van that will hold 15 to 17 passengers to make a monthly trip from here to the Menard Correctional Center in Chester.

Turner started the prison outreach group on Sept. 1, 1963. The group travels to the prison the first Sunday of every month to visit prisoners and conduct religious services.

For more information, Turner can be reached from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the Madison County Urban League office in West Madison at 877-8860. After 1 p.m., she can be reached at her Venice home at 452-4191.

Optimists: Heat is on

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The only thing hotter than the weather in Granite City this summer has been the Granite City Optimists baseball team.

While the Tri-City Post 113 Triplets struggled through an off-year and the Granite Sheet Metal team couldn't quite grasp a playoff berth, Paul Kacera's team has taken the Metro East Junior League by the throat.

The Tri-City Post 113 Triplets struggled through an off-year and the Granite Sheet Metal team couldn't quite grasp a playoff berth, Paul Kacera's team has taken the Metro East Junior League by the throat.

By the time you read this, the Optimists will have played East Alton on Saturday afternoon in the quarterfinals. If Post 214 wins that one, Granite City will have fallen two games short of its goal.

But they had no intention of that. The Optimists didn't travel to Edwardsville just to make a good showing and be respectable. They feel they are the best team in the league, and they want to prove it in the playoffs.

Granite City has a bone to pick with two teams in particular. Their first loss of the year was to Freeburg in the first game of a doubleheader June 14, but the Optimists got quick revenge by winning the nightcap.

But their next loss was to O'Fallon July 4 by a 7-3 score, and Kacera said that was the only game all year where his team was clearly second best.

"We just didn't hit that night and they beat us," he said.

So the team is likely looking forward to seeing O'Fallon in the tournament.

The other team is East Alton. Saturday's game was probably one played with a lot of intensity. The two teams built up a pretty good rivalry in their two games this year, which they split. Granite City got a 1-0 win at home June 19, and East Alton came back with a 4-2 win at their park July 15.

Optimists coach Carl Benson talked of "owing" East Alton one after that frustrating loss. The Optimists felt one or two key hits — they left 12 runners on base — would have turned that game around.

Some players were even hoping for a tie in the standings between the two teams at the end of the regular season, so they could meet them in a one-game tiebreaker for the title to play.

"I'd like to play them again for the title, and so would a lot of the other guys," said third baseman Tim Patterson after a 7-2 win over Cahokia July 17. The division title was still up for grabs.

Time didn't allow a proper description in Thursday's Press-

ALTON Wednesday's game
GC OPTIMISTS 0-0 0-0 3-2
110 005 1-7 12 1

ALTON: Lewis 1B, Baze 1B, Dietrich 1B, LP; Elliott (2 inn.); R2, ER2, H5, SO1, BB1, LBS4.

GC OPTIMISTS: Mills 1B, RUI, Wilson 2B; Collins 1B, 3B, RUI, Patterson RBI, George 1B, 3B, 2BBI; Hendrickson 2B, RBI, Lane 2B, WP, Henderson 7 inn.; R4, ER4, H5, SO4, BB4.

Record of one of the wildest plays in many years that occurred in Wednesday's game.

Granite City had a very frustrating first five innings of the game against Alton, although they led 2-0. They stranded nine in that time and 10 for the game. In the fourth, all five players that batted in the inning reached base against pitcher Jim Vambakettes, yet the Optimists failed to score.

Kory Burton led off with a walk and Mike Lane got a bunt single. Then Kirk Mills grounded to third baseman Bill Gaither, who first thought about racing to the bag to get Burton on a forceout. But he was too late for that and looked to throw to second. Too late there, so he looked at first, but Mills was down the line too fast.

So Gaither just held the ball, but Burton took too wide of a turn around third, and Gaither was able to tag him as he slid headfirst back into the bag. Rich Wilson blooped a single into short right-center field, but Lane could only advance as far as third base, so the bases were loaded.

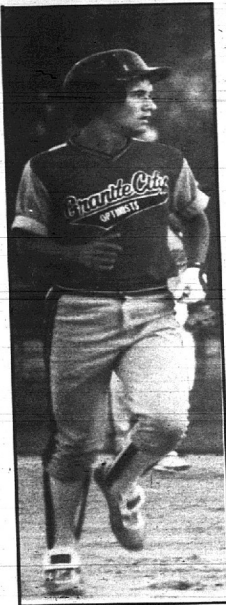

Charlie Collins, who had two more hits in the game, shot a liner into center field for Steve Baze. The ball hit in his glove, stayed there for a minute, and then fell to the ground.

Was it a catch or a drop? No one seemed to know for sure. Based on the reactions of the four base runners, they guessed it was a catch, and Lane tagged up and headed for home. Baze picked up the ball and threw a strike to catcher Mike Lewis, who tagged Lane as he came in.

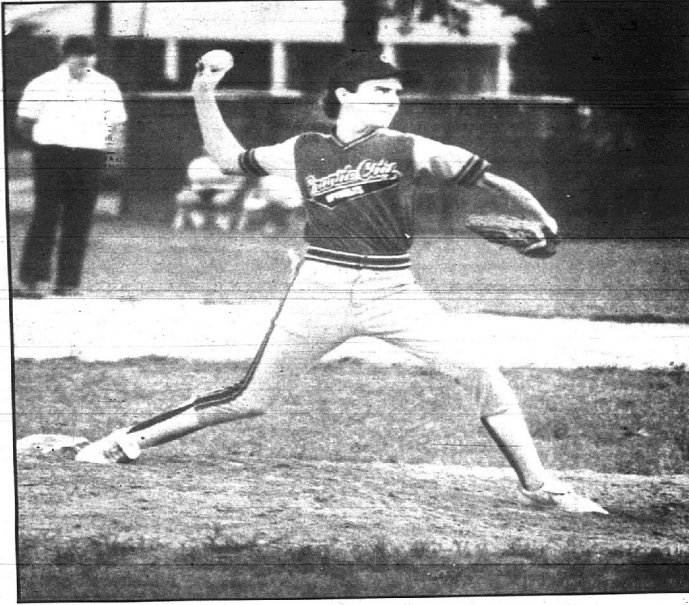

That was the second out of the inning, or maybe it was the third. Collins thought he was out, so he went back to the dugout. Mills stayed at second and first base, respectively. The Alton players threw the ball around and stepped on See bases.

The umpires finally ruled it a no-catch, so Lane was the second out (at the plate) and Collins was called out for leaving the base line (he went to the dugout, thinking he was out on a catch, remember?). So the catcher didn't have to tag Lane at the plate, but he took no chances.

And Alton could have made four outs on the play, giving them five for the inning. Maybe they never could have credited the two extra outs to the sixth inning, when they could have used them. The Optimists exploded for five runs in as he hurled a complete game, striking out four and allowing only three hits. Hendrickson also contributed offensively with a pair of hits and an RBI.

Hendrickson brings up memories of grandpa

It must be in the genes of righthanded pitcher Darin Hendrickson, who pitched the Optimists junior league team over Alton in a first round playoff game Wednesday night at Varsity Field. It was a close game at 2-0 for the first five innings before the locals broke the game open late to win going away, 7-0.

But the game belonged to Hendrickson, who really wasn't in much danger. His three-hit shutout performance reminded many older fans in the rather large crowd of Darin's grandfather, Howard (Lefty) Thebeau, the father of Darin's mother, Alexis.

Lefty Thebeau, who was an ace hurler on the Fleishman Men's Store team in 1942, hurled and won a 1-0, 19-inning cliffhanger in the championship final of the Southwest Illinois Inter-City League.

Thebeau's victim in the lengthy game was the Crown Cleaners of East St. Louis.

His catcher in that mound masterpiece was the late George Vivod. Other teammates Lefty remembers 44 years later are 1st Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer, himself one of the area's best fast-pitch hurlers, and Charlie Parker, who played second base on that aggregation.

Parker, younger brother of Saly Parker, who finished his major league career just last year as an infield coach for the San Francisco Giants, hardly ever misses a Granite City High School game.

A retiree last year from an executive job with the Laborers Union, Parker fondly remembers the games he played for both Fleishman's and the Sacred Heart baseball and basketball teams.

"Edward (Fleishman's son and manager of the teams) always insisted that his teams wear first class," Parker said. "We had the best uniforms, no second class equipment. And on the road, we ate at the best places."

Then Ted Sizemore hit the first pitch after the brouhaha for a game-winning single, as the alert Cruz brought home the big run. There's nothing like baseball.

Program launched to eliminate abuses in youth sports

The lessons young people learn from sports are often remembered the rest of their lives.

That is why volunteer coaches and youth administrators have a responsibility to the kids with whom they work, according to Curt Gowdy, national spokesman of the National Youth Sports Coaches Association and chairman of the "Making Youth Sports Fund For Kids" program.

"The irony of youth sports today is that while many psychologists, reporters and educators denounce organized youth sports, millions of parents still encourage their offspring to participate," Gowdy said.

According to Fred Eng, founder and president of NYSCA, "Even though the elementary school-age population is decreasing, overall organized youth league programs have increased to nearly 20 million participants throughout America."

"That indicates that youth league sports are here to stay, but those who criticize youth sports make some good points, too. Although problems exist in a number of areas, the statement that 'no program is better than its leader' can best summarize the problem in youth league sports."

In nine out of 10 cases, the leader is a parent of one of the team players. "In most cases, the parent probably has never been told that his or her responsibility extends beyond ensuring that the team wins the championship," Eng said. "Perhaps more importantly, that responsibility includes the development of the value systems of the young people being coached, and it is just as important for parents and coaches to remember that youth sports should be a fun experience."

"No parent would let a 10-year-old take swimming lessons from a person who is not qualified to teach. Well, what about the young people who suffer emotional, psychological and sometimes physical abuse because the youth coach was never told he had responsibilities in these areas?" Eng believes the coaches' volunteer status does not exempt them from these responsibilities. To fill this training gap, the NYSCA, a non-profit organization formed in 1981, offers a basic certification program that can be completed by attending three-hour sessions on two consecutive nights.

The feedback we've received from leagues that have implemented the NYSCA certification indicates that by clearly stating minimum standards for volunteer coaches, the vast majority willingly comply," Eng said. "More importantly, the youngsters benefit almost immediately from the positive experience youth sports were intended to provide in the first place."

NYSCA doesn't stop at educating and certifying volunteer coaches. They also have created special programs to offer comprehensive guidelines for parents, youth league administrators and game officials who are involved in community youth sport programs.

Certification of an NYSCA volunteer does not denote qualification to coach, per se, but it does indicate a basic awareness of the very important role each volunteer has on the psychological well-being, safety, and the need for basic sports instruction of each child in his or her care. ## Instructional football camp is this fall

The Granite City Park District is offering a non-contact instructional football camp in the fall. Instruction will be provided by a seven-member staff that includes professional athletes and retired educators Keith Parker, John Toncoff and Dick Yates.

They, in conjunction with Don Harris, Pat Harris, Eric Robertson and Larry Curry will work to create a camp that promotes recreation and sportsmanship. Games, drills and activities will stress proper technique for executing basic football skills, exercise, agility and speed.

Granite City High School head football coach Ron Yates will function as an advisor. Yates has planned special activities for the camp participants with the varsity football players.

The camp starts Sept. 6, and will continue for eight consecutive Saturday mornings. Fourth and fifth grade students are invited to attend the 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. session. Sixth and seventh grade students are asked to attend the 10:30 a.m. to noon session.

Registration will begin Aug. 4 and remain open through the camp. Participants are not required to attend all eight sessions.

The camp is designed to develop football skills, not emphasize league play. The instruction will include controlled team play. For additional information, contact Dave Price, recreation supervisor, at 877-3059.

200-year-old problem plagues Illinois hunters

In a move to help Illinois out-of-state hunters, Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan filed suit July 24 against the state of Kentucky in the United States Supreme Court in Washington, D.C.

The suit could settle a dispute along the 133-mile border between Kentucky and Illinois that has been an irritation to Illinois sportsmen. With Hartigan at the press conference was Carrell Neal of Bay City, Ill. Neal spent 19 days and drove 1,000 miles throughout Southern Illinois gathering information from 10,000 Illinois sportsmen on problems the border dispute has created.

Because no firm border exists between the states, Kentucky game officials have insisted on enforcing their state's fish and game laws up to the Illinois shore line. This has created great hardship for Illinois sportsmen, who must purchase the appropriate Kentucky game licenses or face action by Kentucky game officials. The problem has its roots in the late 1700s before Illinois and Kentucky were states.

"Carrell Neal has convinced me and the people of my office that this action must be taken and taken now," Hartigan said. "We intend to settle it now and forever so that Illinois sportsmen again have access to the part of the Ohio River that is rightfully theirs, without the harassment of Kentucky Game and Fish Officials."

Hartigan said that discussions with various Illinois state agencies have identified several potential problems that could be resolved by a decision from the Supreme Court. For example, clarification of the border would impact on the registration and titling of watercraft, the enforcement of boating laws, game and fishing licenses and fishing regulations.

Also, the border pinpoints the exact responsibility for maintenance of bridges over the river, and affects liability for accidents on the bridges. A border determination would also help clarify the Illinois Department of Transportation's role as public trustee for the protection of certain submerged lands in the Ohio River. In addition, workers compensation and unemployment insurance issues might emerge if it is determined Illinois has jurisdiction over a portion of the river.

Illinois sportsmen approached Hartigan about possible legal action because of years of harassment by Kentucky officials. Examples have included Kentucky officials attempting to seize the boat and motor of a man whose boat was tied up to the Illinois shore and fishing from a log that extended into the Ohio River from the Illinois side of the river.

There are also economic considerations. A man who fishes for muskies near the Illinois shore pays Kentucky $300 a year for a license. A Kentucky citizen pays $25.

The confusion over the Illinois-Kentucky boundary began shortly after the Revolutionary War.

In 1784 the state of Virginia ceded the land that would later become Illinois, Indiana and Ohio to the United States government, but only that land north and west of the Ohio River.

Since Kentucky was created from land retained by Virginia the Supreme Court has ruled that it's border extends to the low watermark on the Ohio River's northern shore as it existed in 1792, the year Kentucky was admitted to the union. But that ruling only addressed the borders with Ohio and Indiana. The matter of the Illinois border has never been settled.

"It is the 1792 low-water mark that Illinois asks to be set as the border between the two states," Hartigan said. "This will allow Illinois sportsmen to have access to a fair portion of the Ohio River. We won't tolerate a situation where you can cast a line into Kentucky from the Illinois shore."

The United States Supreme Court begins its next session Oct. 1.
